Dear Bruce,

On behalf of the Public Technology Institute (PTI) and Rutgers University Center for Government Services, it is my pleasure to recognize Gregory Dias for graduating from the Certified Government Chief Information Officers program. Greg is now both encouraged and authorized to use the CGCIO designation anywhere a signature appears.

Greg is now recognized among a growing group of technology executives seeking to improve their technology leadership skills. The program is designed to address the most critical issues facing IT executives in the public sector. This year-long course comprises 240 contact hours that take the form of reading and written assignments; 9 monthly live, online classes; 3 full days of class; self-paced online coursework; and finally, a Capstone Project. Furthermore, I am pleased to report that Greg graduated with Honors – a distinction only awarded to very few graduates. This signifies exceptional work above and beyond the program's already stringent requirements.

As lead faculty for this program, it has been my pleasure working with Greg throughout this program. I hope you will join me in recognizing this great achievement.

Regards,
